They were on their way to Northern Iowa and said that if they had time to stop any where on the return trip they certainly would stop in Maryville.

The county town to town signs were placed from Parnell to Ravenwood yesterday and one tourists camp sign was placed just on this side of Ravenwood.

MUSICIANS WIN FROM THE CIGAR MAKERS LAST NIGHT

El Retinas Make Game Fight But Lose By a Score of Six to Five.

The Musicians won from the Cigar Makers last night by a score of 6 to 5. The game was very fast and was anybodys until the last. O'Banion for the Cigar Makers struck out nine men and Yehle of the Musicians put down eight.

The Musicians made three runs in the first, two in the second and one in the fifth; and the Cigar Makers tallied one in the first, two in the third and two in the fourth.

The game was rather ragged at times and all of the runs were made off of errors or infield hits. There were no clean doubles.

President-Elect Lamkin is in Kansas City today in consulation with Charles R. Gardner, who he hopes to get to be a faculty member in the music department. Mr. Gardner was at the Springfield State Teachers College the past year and if he comes here will engage in chorus, glee club and school singing.

The first of the month Mr. Lamkin of the State Teachers College received, as a present from the Philadelphia office of the Board of Vocational Education, a handsome watch. The timepiece is of Swiss make and has eighteen jewels.

GOV. HYDE WILL CALL SPECIAL BONUS SESSION

Governor at Sedalia Says He May Summon Special Gathering Before Armistice Day, Nov. 11.

Sedalia, Aug. 13.—Governor Hyde announced yesterday that he would call a special session of the legislature to pass laws necessary to make operative the soldiers' bonus voted August 2. The announcement was made following a conference with John F. Williams, Joplin state commander of the American Legion, to whom the governor has entrusted the drafting of the bills.

"The session will not necessarily be called on Armistice Day, November 11, as requested; it may be set earlier," the governor said. "The date will depend on how soon the bills can be drawn.

The governor expressed the hope that Missouri would benefit by the experience of other states, in some of which soldiers' bonus plans are said to have worked out less satisfactorily than desired.

When asked, Gov. Hyde stated that there was no understanding that the special session would be restricted to consideration of the bonus bill.

CAN WOMEN NOW SIT ON JURIES?

OFFICIALS NOT CERTAIN OF RIGHTS IN RECENT AMENDMENT

BARRETT IS IN DOUBT

Political Equality With Men Now in Given by State on all Phases Except Venire Service

Are Missouri Women now qualified to sit on juries?

The question has come up since the adoption of the constitutional amendment permitting women to hold public office. The offical count, completed Thursday at Jefferson City, showed the amendment won by a majority of 11,498. The women succeeded in spite of the fight made by the city politicians who have resented the increasing political power of women.

Jesse Barrett attorney general declined to give an opinion on the question of jury service, or that the new amendment permits women to hold local elective offices as well as state offices.

Mr. Barrett added he expects the question would come before his office in a regular way and then he would give an opinion.

The amendment reads:

No person shall be disqualified from holding office in this state on account of sex, and those provisions in the constitution of Missouri requiring that persons be eligible for certain offices, must have been qualified voters for a certain number of years shall not apply to women who have the necessary qualifications of citizenship until after the nineteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States shall have been in effect an equivalent number of years.

Since the adoption of the federal suffrage amendment Missouri women have acquired nearly all the rights held by men. The amendment of August 2 gives women a right to run for the state legislature, state offices and membership in the new constitutional convntion. Many lawyers believe that it also removes the bar against women being candidates for the common council and other city offices.

Dan Stewart, chief deputy election commission of Kansas City pointed out today that women would be quolified to serve as judges and clerks at the city election next spring under the law passed at the regular session of the legislature.

In the last campaign, women were given equal representation on party committees, but not equal authority, with the men.

At the special session of the legislature a primary election bill was offered guaranteeing to women equal representation on party committees. The measure failed in the house because of a provision permitting judicial nominations by conventions.

STARTS CAMPAIGN FOR NEW SIDEWALKS

COMMISSIONERS IN SESSION CONDEMNED SEVERAL WALKS

DISCUSS TRAFFIC RULES

New Ordinance for Traffic and Parking Will be Submitted at Adjourned Session Next Friday

At an adjourned session of the city commissioners held last evening, a campaign for new sidewalks was started when several old and bad sidewalks were condemned and the property owners directed to build cement or stone walks. The walks condemned were scattered over the city and are being taken out today by the city authorities. Unless they do this the city will build the walks and tax it against the property. The condemned walks are:

South Walnut street—Mrs. Bennett, O. A. Bennett and Mrs. Selecman.

North Buchanan street—John H. Gray.

South Vine street—W. A. Bailey.

South Depot—Caleb Brogan.

The commissioners adopted an amendment to the regulations pertaining to the city water service, providing for a charge of $1 to cover expenses of cutting off and turning on the water service. About a dozen water consumers have had their water service cut off within the last few days on account of non-payment of their bills.

The members discussed the new traffic and parking ordinance and have agreed on its provisions. This ordinance is being prepared and will be ready for passage at an adjourned session of the commissioners to be held next Friday evening. Mayor Robinson would not discuss today the provisions for this new ordinance.

MARKETINGS BETWEEN HERE AND SAVANNAH ARE POOR.

The Maryville Motor Company received a letter today from J. H. Mr. Luxton writes he met a Topeka friend recentiy who had driven from Clarinda through Maryville to St. Joseph and they also thought the markings were poor. Mr. Luxton is evidently referring to the Bennett Lane road.

PRESIDENT ISSUES TAX STATEMENT

IMPORTANT PROGRESS ALONG TAX REVISION LINES MADE.

TO ENCOURAGE BUSINESS

To Distribute the Tax Burdens With Greatest Possible Equality on Those Best Able to Pay.

Washington, Aug. 13.—President Harding believes important progress along tax revision lines has been accomplished by his administration. In a statement issued from the White House today he asserted the entire tax reform program contemplates freeing business from what had been found "paralyzing and exasperating conditions and to encourage to the utmost the resumption of enterprise and business, removing every incentive to evasion and fraud, and distributing the tax burden with greatest possible equality on those best able to pay."

The administration emphaized that no effort is being made to relieve the rich from their share of burden, that steps have been taken so that no class can escape these taxes. The rich man's taxes which are the greatest under the administration program, President Harding pointed out, will produce about one billion eight hundred million dollars while the balance will be distributed over the entire community, rich and poor.

COUNTY HEALTH CONDITIONS THE BEST IN TWO YEARS

Is Proper Time to Take Precautions Against Typhoid Fever Say Doctors.

"The health condition of the county are better today than they have been at any time during the two years that I have served as county health officer and there are fewer cases of contagious diseases" said Dr. H. S. Rowlett this morning. "Although the conditions are good it is the proper time to take precautions to prevent typhoid fever", said Dr. Rowlett.

There are four cases of typhoid fever in the county and the origin of all can be traced to one course. It would be best for the people of Maryville to use the city water in preference to well water, because the city water which is treated with chemicials is much the safer. Wells during this season of the year are low and many of them become contaminated. If well water is used it should be boiled. Dr. Rowlett said that everyone should be vaccinated against typhoid fever.

Two cases of typhoid were reported from Wilcox, one at the St. Francis hospital and a case over on west Seventh street were reported to the health officers this morning.

Other than these cases there is less sickness in the county than there has been for a long time is the report that most of the doctors of Maryville make. There were only two cases of quarantine in the county this morning and these will soon be released.

DEAD MAN MAY BE ROSS HAMMOND

BARNARD PARTIES TO CLARINDA TODAY TO SEE BODY.

MAY BE THEIR COUSIN

Articles Found Contained Baker, Ore., and Hammond Was From That Town.

Is the young man found murdered in a cornfield near Braddyville, Ia., and buried in a cemetery in Clarinda John Hamilton of Southern Oklahoma or Ross Hammon of Baker, Ore?

E. A. McBride, James Hornbuckle and F. E. Wohlford of near Barnard were in Maryville today on their way to Clarinda with a description and photographs of their cousin, Ross Hammond. From what they read in the papers, they are of the opinion the dead man is Hammond. They told the officials here that Hammond was on his way from Baker, Ore., to some place in Indiana, in a Chalmers car, a few weeks ago.

An aunt of the young man wrote relatives at Barnard that she thought he would arrive there in time for the Barnard picnic. A friend, Orville Duke, of Bolckow was sent word to go to Braddyville to assist in identifying him. The boy's relatives at Baker, Ore., have been telegraphed but as yet no word has been received from them.

Other clews which have been found pointed to the man from Baker, Ore. The name of that town was found on a box in his pocket and a brown felt hat, size 7 1-4 which was found near the home of Ed Teuscher of near Braddyville early last Saturday morning and had several red hairs in the hat, contained the following: Bowen Dr. Nefie Clothing Co., Baker, Ore.

Is the young man found murdered in a cornfield near Braddyville, Ia., a John Hamilton of southern Oklahoma? Residents of several communities in Nodaway County think there is a great possibility that he may be the young man who has been roaming around over the county with a man, evidently his father, his sister, Pearl and a boy nine or ten years old whom they called Buster.

The description of the young man going under the name of John Hamilton was so similar to the description of the young man found murdered that several communities have been considerably stirred up.

Quitman residents first told of the wanderers who visited their town. Several weeks ago the party of four arrived at Quitman on foot and stayed in the vicinity of the town for about two weeks living in old abandoned houses, in corn fields, or any place possible. They seldom came to Quitman with the exception of the young man who was said to havs purchased several bottles of lemon extract. They entered Quitman on foot but the young fellow traded a watch for an old horse and buggy and left that vicinity after staying about two weeks.

Guilford residents say the same family were there. They have also been seen at Conception and at Maryville. They arrived at Guilford on the train previous to going to Quitman. They told authorities there they were destitute and had come there from southern Oklahoma. Sickness and failure in business was a part of their hard luck story. They stayed for some time at the town calaboose and the authorities gave the little boy and girl food. They were

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN NODAWAY COUNTY

BUSINESS MAN, 95 YEARS, TOO YOUNG TO QUIT WORK

New York, Aug. 13—Daniel M. Treadwell, lawyer, author, scientist, broker and man of affairs, on the eve of his ninety-fifth birthday is just a bit amusedly tolerant of the furore made annually over the fact that John D. Rockefeller, in the ripe maturity of his eighty-second year, still is able to play golf and enjoy a drive in his motor car—or, perhaps, one of his motor cors might be better.

Mr. Treadwell goes to his office at the Home Title Insurance Company daily, and conducts his routine affairs as a matter of course; and he doesn't expect anyone to wax excited about it. He is regarded as the oldest active business man in New York City and he is looking forward to being a good deal older business man before he retires to spend his old age in peace and quiet.

Mr. Treadwell admits that John A. Stewart, of Morristown, N. J., chairman of the board of directors of the United States Trust Company, who will celebrate his ninety-ninth birthday on August 26, is getting along in years and has earned his retirement, but feels that for himself ninety-nine years will be a bit young for retirement. Mr. Stewart goes to his office in Wall street three times a week.

Never Wears Glasses.

On the 26th of this month Mr. Treadwell will go to Freeport, L. I., for his annual birthday party with his little grand nephew, Charles P. Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harvey, who is his junior by a little matter of exactly eighty-four years to the day. Mr. Treadwell will be ninety-five and Charles eleven years old, but the slight discerepancy in years doesn't alter the fact that the two are "buddies," and neither would feel that his birthday had been celebrated properly minus the presence of the other.

As a matter of fact Mr. Treadwell has the appearance of a man in the late fifties. His eye is clear, he never wears glasses, his step is firm and he has a full crop of bushy white hair His carriage is erect and soldierly and he has all the vigor and vitality of a man slightly more than half his years.

Mr. Treadwell has a spontaneous humor which is very readily tapped. In fact, he managed to find considerable amusement over his clumsiness, some two months ago, when he permitted a pair of new rubber heels to trip him up and hurl him headlong down two flights of stairs leading to the stoop of a neighbor's home. He was bruised a bit instead of being killed outright, as would have happened in the case of some old fellow of sixty or seventy years; but he refused to call a doctor and has little to remind him of the fall now.

News From Over The County

Burlington Junction Post

While walking down the street leading west from the residence of Dr. E. S. Harrison, af ew days ago, Marcus Staples, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Staples, noticed something bright protruding from the ground in front of him. He stooped to investigate and dug out an open faced gold watch. It was cleaned when he got home and the initials F. C. L. were found engraved on the back.

Fank Larabee was notified of the find, and the watch proved to be his. He lost it about nine years ago but upon winding it the little timekeeper began ticking faithfully away just as if it had never been exposed to the elements.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Miller and daughter, Miss Juanita, left Tuesday in their car, for a week's outing at Winwood lake near Excelsior Springs Miss Margaret Miller, who is employed in Kansas City will spend the week end with them.

Word has been received from Mrs. Margaret Carter, who is now visiting at the home of her son, Dale Carter, at Longmont Colorado, stating that she would arrive home within a few days. Mrs. Carter has been in California for several weeks visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter Mendenhall at Van Nuys and on her return to Longmont was delayed three days at Salida, Colorado on account of a cloudburst and landslide in the Grand Canyon. Seven long trains were detained there and the town was literally overrun by the imprisoned tourists.

Conception Junction Courier

When we look at the little towns that surround us we are almost compelled to come to the conclusion that our own little city is not awake to the opportunities or taking advantage of the chances that are offered to become the best town in Nodaway County. We appear to be so absorbed in chasing the elusive dollar that little, if any, attention is being paid to the building up of the community or taking any interest in its welfare. This is the only town in Nodaway County that has not made some preparation to properly entertain its surrounding trade this fall. A poor record to say the least.

The Auto Club of St. Joseph, about 150 strong, are expected to be here in their cars on next Thursday, August 18th. They will start that morning from their home town, stop at Union Star, King City, Stanberry, and Clyde, and be at Conception Parish Hall at 12:30 for dinner, and in the afternoon will proceed to Conception Junction then to Maryville, Barnard, Rosendale and Savannah, back to St. Joseph. They will have a band with them and speakers.

Guilford Times.

On last Thursday evening as K. C. Knudson, wife and son, Raymond and daughters, Verna and Edna, and W. E. Hill, wife and daughter, Elizabeth were returning to the home of K. C. Knudson after visiting at the home of W. B. Torrance and family, they were thrown from the carriage just west of the railroad crossing. The tongue of the carriage came down and broke turning the carriage over and spilling all of the occupants out. They were all bruised up but Mr. Hill and Verna Knudson. No bones were broken. The team got loose from the carriage and ran away but were caught west of the river.

Several people from Guilford attended the funeral Sunday at Barnard of Dr. J. L. Gillette who for several years practiced as a veterinary in Barnard and vicinity. He was raised southeast of Guilford on Empire Prairie by William Hinkle and after coming to Barnard he married Miss Mable Alumbaugh. Recently he and his wife left Barnard and located in Tulsa, Okla., where he died of acute Brights Disease and euremia. On Aug. 7, the anniversary of his birth he was buried in Barnard being 37 years old.

Ravenwood Gazette.

J. D. Gates is erecting a new $6,000 two story residence on his fine farm northwest of town. The foundation is all in and everything is now ready for the carpenter work. Ed. Warren of Sheridan has the contract.

The new bungalow, which Walter Davis is erecting on his lot in the new addition, is ready for lathing and is a very neat and roomy structure, containing six rooms with bath and closets and basement full size of building.

Hugh Crawford was in town Monday morning showing three large tomatoes which he raised on his farm north of town. Two of them measured fourteen inches in circumference and the other measured thirteen and one half inches. They weighed three and three-fourths pounds, which is an average of one and one-fourth pound each. They were fine tomatoes and Hugh is saving them for seed and expects to raise some larger ones next year.

Hopkins Journal.

Merve Safley took a truck load of his Hampshire hogs to the Bedford fair last week and won about everything in sight, taking five firsts and four seconds. He has a wonderful herd, some of his hogs being good enough to exhibit at a state fair.

Geo. T. Wray and daughter Thelma returned last week from a trip to Colorado in their car. They left here two months ago accompanied by Ernest (Beans) Snodgrass and Ray Wray. The two boys are still in the west with a threshing crew. George reports the corn crop between here and where he was the best he ever saw and says wheat in Colorado is running from six to thirty-five bushels to the acre, according to the way the crop is put in and handled. He also says the country there is full of I. W. W's. and if people talked here like some talk out there, they would be hanging to a sour apple tree. Every freight train is loaded with tramps and the company is ordered not to put any tramps off, apparently fearing the anti-work organization.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Sisk have received the announcement of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anna, to Mr. C. W. Johnson of Los Angeles, California, which occurred July 2, 1921. Miss Sisk is a former Hopkins young lady while Mr. Johnson is a young contractor of Hollywood, California, where the happy couple will reside.

It is the common belief that the first crop of alfalfa won't mature seed, but Alfred Walton doesn't believe it. Mr. Walton has four acres of altalta. He cut the first crop for seed this season, and it made seventeen bushels and thirty-four pounds of well matured seed—four bushels and 23 1-2 pounds per acre. This piece of alfalfa is maturing another crop of seed now, but it is not expected to be as heavy as the first crop.—The threshing was done Monday afternoon by E. R. Bird. The seed accumulated faster than the elevator could carry it, and two or three stops were made in order to clean out the elevator when it became clogged.

SAYS WOMEN LIVE LONGER THAN MEN

INSURANCE STATISTICS REVEAL INTERESTING FACTS

SPINSTERS LIVE LONGER

Women Whose Husbands Are to Be Beneficiaries Are Classed as Poorest "Risks."

(Written by Margery Rex for the International News Service).

New York, Aug. 12—Dr. H. F. Biggar physician to John D. Rockefeller, threatens to play golf with his famous patient in their hundredth year. We say "their" advisedly, since both men are now eighty-two years of age, and the doctor says there is no good reason why they both shouldn't reach the century mark.

"Anyone who follows his sensible way of living can live to be a centenarian," says Dr. Biggar of Mr. Rockefeller.

"He can eat anything, but he observes one of the prime laws of health to eat moderately. His good sense tell him that moderation in diet is a prerequisite of endurance."

Golf, mathematical games, early to bed and early to rise—these are the rules of the great financier's simply-lived life.

But what are his chances or those of any other man or woman to live to be a hundred?

Is woman's chance better or worse than man's to reach a ripe old age?

Investigation shows some startling facts. For instance.

Women with husbands die earlier than spinsters.

Married women who buy insurance and choose husbands as their beneficiaries are considered poor risks.

These facts have been called to our attention by a high official of a well-known insurance company, who says regarding longevity.

Insurance Expert Gives Facts.

"Well-regulated outdoor life, with a fair amount of exercise, seems to be a good rule to follow. In general, people who have adhered to such a mode of life have found Horace's 'golden mean' in all things. They choose everything in moderation.

"In the 'United States Life Tables' drawn up from the census of 1910, taking note of the deaths of 1909-1910-1911, the women show up very favorably.

"Let's look at the tables of Expectation of the Life,' which means the average number of years lived beyond a certain age.

"This 'expectation of life in women whose lives were followed up from the age of ten years, was fifty-four years, while for men it was fifty-one.

"Taken on from twenty-five years, the average 'expectation' of men was thirty-nine years, and in the cases of women it was forty-one. This means that the average man would live twenty-five plus thirty-nine years, and the average woman would live twenty-five plus forty-one years.

"Taken at forty-five men may expect to live on twenty-four more years, the women twenty-five. The female is still in the ascendant.

"When sixty is reached, the three-score years, our average male has fourteen more years to look forward to, and the woman still fifteen. I am leaving out the small fractions; nevertheless, woman is still ahead, when the seventy-five mark is reached, if only by a fraction. Otherwise we count seven years yet to be lived by both males and females, not forgetting the small additional time for women.

Why Women Have Best Chance.

"How do we account for women being ahead? Well, perhaps less exposure to the hardships, and accidents of life, less chance of violent deaths. Now we come to insurance statistics.

"The Medical Actuarial of Mortality Investigation, published in 1913, deals with the deaths of insured lives and shows mortality rates among the various classes, as compared with the average mortality of the country.

"The number of deaths among women is 104 per cent of what they would be if the mortality of women had been the same as the average mortality for all risks,' or for the total class.

"That is, for every one hundred deaths, counted among general policy holders, we would get one hundred and four among women.

"Spinsters, the term covers all unmarried women, have a low rate, 81 per cent.

"There are two classes among the married women. First come the women whose husbands are to be the beneficiaries They lead in the highest rate of death, 126 per cent.

"The other class, composed of those who have beneficiaries other than their life partners, have a rate of 114 per cent.

"Among widows, both real and divorced women, the rate is 165 per cent.

"Women with husbands seem to die quicker than those without.

"Mortality among women, therefore seems to have been influenced a great deal by what insurance people term 'self-selection.'

"Where the 'insurable intent' is weak the reasons for taking out insurance by those buy it are actuated by reasons other than necessity for such protection.

"The married woman not earning her own living, supported by her husband, will be accepted for only a small amount of insurance.

"She generally insures because she hasn't good prospects for longevity.

"Men who must get insurance to provide for those left after them get it whether or not they think they will live long, regardless of health or lack of it.

"In the occupational life, Protestant clergymen lead the longest lives. As an old friend of mine said of their longevity and reluctance to die, 'they point the way to others, but show little haste themselves.'

"Another good group is the farmers not the laboring agriculturists, but the proprietor farmers.

Mortality Among Drinkers.

"People interested in different aspects of prohibition frequently like to show a higher rate of mortality among drinkers than abstainers. By drinkers I refer to the regular drinkers, not the men who get spells of drunkenness, but the 'good fellow who takes a little all the time.

"The total abstainers and the three-to-four-drinks-a-day fellow differ in other respects than their bibulous habits. The 'good fellow' very likely has irregular habits of life. He eats at odd hours and neglects to get enough sleep. It is hard to determine how much of his condition is due to drink and how much to other causes which go with his type of nature."

Among the group of "moderationists" to which Mr. Rockefeller evidently belongs, are also Chauncy M. Depew, who recently celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday by working at his office. The well known statesman once told me of the simplicity of his daily life and of his diet. John A. Stewart, who in his ninetieth year works at his desk in a Wall street bank, is likewise of an abstemious nature. He motors to work, stays downtown a few hours, partakes of a bread-and-milk lunch and goes home early.

Julia Ward Howe and Harriet Beecher Stowe were long-lived and illustrious women. Their later years were anything but empty, and to-day we have the renowned Bernhardt, marvel of the world, aged and crippled, but still upon the stage.

ELECTRIC CHARGE CAUSES A FALL OF TWENTY FEET.

Leo Strong, one of the linesmen for the Hanamo Telephone Company, was shocked and knocked off of a pole twenty feet high yesterday afternoon while working along seventh street. Strong was working on a combination pole which carried the light wire as well as the telephone wire. As he climbed the pole he came in contact with one of the light wires which carried a heavy enough charge to cause him to break his holds and fall. He fell to the cement sidewalk stricking his right hip and elbow. A bone in his elbow was broken. Strong is feeling a little shaken up today but expects to be back at work Monday.

River's Peculiar Course.

A natural phenomenon is in the San Gorgonio pass of southern California. It is a river that flows up hill. The river is of sand that eddies between the peaks of the San Bernardino and San Jacinto mountains. An explanation of the antics of the sand is found in the unusual mountain formation at this point. The wind blowing down the pass takes runs through Blaisdell canyon and over a rise of several hundred feet, taking the sand with it.

BAD ROADS EXPENSIVE.

Money Saved By Keeping Auto Tires Out of Mud and Ruts.

Here is a practical demonstration of how good roads will save money to the motor car owner. J. Frank Smith, manager of the Good Roads Association of Greater Kansas City, has been driving a seven passenger car for one year and ten months. The car has been driven over paved streets, paved roads and good earth roads. It has never been driven to exceed fifty miles over any real bad mud roads. Nor have the tires suffered greatly from frozen or dried earth ruts. Mr. Smith believes in waiting for the mud roads to dry up before trying to negotiate them. Most farmers and business men, especially in the country, have no other means of traveling over the highways and are compelled to drive their cars in all kinds of weather and over all sorts of roads.

The tires on Mr. Smith's car are cord. The rear tires stood up well for 14,500 miles. The front tires have run 17,475 miles, have never been repaired and look to be good for 3,000 to 5,000 miles more.

Mr. Smith estimates that if the car had been run over the average country roads, such as are found on most of the highways of Kansas and Missouri, and in all kinds of weather, that the tires would not have given half the mileage. He believes that a conservative estimate in the saving in gasoline and tires on 17,475 miles over our smooth dry earth or paved roads as against the average Missouri or Kansas earth roads in all kinds of Kansas earth roads in all kinds of weather, would be, on a seven passenger car, at least $300.00 in favor of the good roads. This does not take into consideration the saving to the paint, body and engine.

There are approximately 600,000 autos and trucks in Missouri and Kansas. By another year at least 100,000 motor vehicles will be added. On the present number of vehicles, if good roads would save only $10 to each owner it would mean an annual saving of $6,000,000. If a saving of $50.00 could be made to each owner it would mean an annual saving of $30,000,000 in the two states which now goes for bad road tax. If each car owner could be saved $100 per year it would mean a saving from the mud tax of $60,000,000 annually. From these estimates, which are not over drawn, every owner of a truck or auto can see where he can well afford to pay almost any reasonable license fee if it will be invested in 365-day roads. The one big wish of every car owner is that these good roads may come with as little delay as possible and that they will form a connected state and national system so that the traveling public, may have connected and continuous good roads for all kinds of motor traffic. This means a connected system of "farm to market" roads.

NEW TREATMENT OF WHEAT WILL PREVENT LOOSE SMUT

Plan Is Simple and Cheap But Very Effective—To Equip Costs Only $5.00.

Just off the press at the Missouri Agricultural Experiment Station is a circular announcing in detail a newly developed method of treating seed wheat to prevent loose smut. The plan described is simple and cheap but very effective. All the materials required for the apparatus used in this treatment should not cost more than $5. It can be set up and used anywhere and by anyone. Its effectiveness has been thoroughly proved by the Experiment Station. Every detail of the method is explained in Extension Circular 108 entitled, "A Simple Method of Controlling Loose Smut in Wheat" by W. C. Etheridge. For a free copy address the Agricultural Extension Service, Columbia, Mo.

Loose smut, according to this circular, is one of the most dangerous enemies of Missouri wheat. This disease in 1919, in several localities, destroyed 10 to 15 per cent of the crop. The damage in 1920 was not so serious, although there were many reports of losses ranging from 3 to 5 per cent. A loss of 15 per cent in a 20-bushel crop means a loss of $3.00 per acre, even when wheat is selling for only $1.00 per bushel. The disease is liable to occur anywhere in the State, in any season. It is therefore a constant menace.

A head of wheat infected with loose smut becomes a black, smutty mass soon after it comes out of the boot. Soon it is completely destroyed and only the bare stem is left. Meanwhile the smut spores have been blown around the field and lodged in healthy heads. They start growth at once and penetrate the newly forming grains. When these grains are ripe they appear sound although inside them is the germ of the disease. Some of the diseased grain is sown every year, and thus loose smut is spread.

Mosquitoes Don't Bite, Only Saw.

If, as is generally thought, a mosquito's biting outfit was a simple straight arrangement like a needle there would be no pain in connection with its insertion, as it is too small to feel. But the mosquito's boring equipment is really elaborate. Its bill has a blunt fork at the head, and is grooved. Working through the groove and projecting from the angle of the fork is a lance of perfect form and sharpened with a fine bevel. On each side of the lance are arranged saws with sharp points and well-arranged keen teeth, the backs of these saws playing against the lance. When the mosquito alights it thrusts in the lance, but this is rarely felt—it may be noted that there is usually an appreciable moment after the mosquito begins to bite before any pain is observed.

AT THE ELECTRIC

William Duncan and Edith Johnson, co-stars in "Where Men Are Men", which will be shown Monday and Tuesday are expert riders. They are both athletic and enjoy all forms of outdoor sport.

In this production which deals with the Death Valley gold mining region of California they are given opportunity to display their skill in handling horses, rifles and performing other stunts that only those who keep physical fit can do.

The story deals with the efforts of a girl to solve the mystery surrounding the death of her father and the struggle of way with his mining partner. Although in both case the missing man is one and the same neither the boy nor the girl are aware of the fact.

At times each thinks the other working against him or her. They are in love and often jealousy magnifies the differences. The other girl takes a hand in affairs and instead of spoiling the pudding helps draw matters to a pleasing conclusion.

The coming of a Jack London picture is always an event far out of the ordinary, which is why the announcement that "The Little Fool," a Metro release of a C. E. Shurleff, Inc., all-star production is coming Wednesday and Thursday gives pleasant anticipation.

"The Little Fool" is a screen adaptation from Jack London's "The Little Lady of the Big House." it is the fourth Metro release of Jack London pictures, the others being "Burning Daylight," "The Mutiny of the Elsinore," and "The Star Rover."

The story deals with Paula, as fascinating creature who attracts all the men invited to the palatial home of her husband, "Dick" Forrest. The husband knows of her weakness for moonshine society, but pays little attention to it. Then enters the third party. Evan Graham an old chum falls desperately in love and is loved in return. Dick gives his wife the choice of leaving him. A limousine speeds down the driveway and the husband surrenders himself to despair. The working out of the situation is masterly.

In "A House Divided," which will be shown Friday only, Sylvia Breamer and Herbert Rawlinson, the Blackton co-stars, again have the leading roles, with Mr. Grossmith promising to give them a close race for stellar honors. Lieutenant Grossmith is an Englishman, born in London, where much of the action of "A House Divided" takes place. He is a son of George Grossmith, actor and entertainer, a nephew of Weedon Grossmith and brother of George Grossmith, Jr., all well known in the theatrical world of England and America. Associated with the leading players in "A House Divided" are the Blackton "kiddies", William Humphrey, Eric Mayne, Sallie Crute, Marie Burke and Shirley Huxley.

Greenwich Village has served as the background for many a recent photodrama, but never has the free and unfettered atmosphere of the Bohemian district adjoining New York's Washington Square been so faithfully transplanted to the celluloid strip as in "The Dangerous Moment," the Universal screen story starring Carmel Myers which will be shown Saturday.

The dramatic action starts almost immediately after the initial title. There is a struggle, a mysterious murder, a precipitous flight across the roof tops, and Sylvia finds sanctuary in all artist's studio, fully believing that she has committed the greatest crime. Many situations develop, a romance blossoms and bears fruit and after an hour of the most stirring incidents, relieved here and there by natural humor, the story comes to on unexpected climax.

Miss Myers has never done better work than in her present role, and the acting of Herbert Heyes as the artist, "Smoke" Turner as the amiable Bolshevist, George Rigas as Movos, Lule Warrenton as his mother, and Bonnie Hill as the heiress are above reproach. Marcel de Sano directed the production.

AT THE EMPIRE

When Cecil B. DeMille produced that excellent photoplay, "Don't Change Your Husband", sometime ago, it scored immensely because it presented in a charming manner a subject of intense interest to married folk. Now he has followed it with a sort of companion picture which presents the other side of the question treated in the story mentioned, namely, "Why Change Your Wife?" shown Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. DeMille has risen to great heights in his depcition of the wife, who in her overwhelming love of her husband tires him to the degree that he finds solace in the companionship of a pretty divorcee. The wife who forgets to make a playmate of her husband, and who has changed remarkably since their marriage ten years previously, obtains a divorce and he marries the other woman. It then develops that his second wife grows to be the very opposite to what she was when he married her, and trouble ensues.

Meanwhile, the first wife, beautiful and charming and extravagant— all that she had not been in her martial life, meets her rueful husband and wins back his love. Both have learned the salutary lesson that a wife to be a wife must be his playmate as well as his married mate, if they hope to be happy. And so the future looms up for both with the promise of ultimate happiness.

Mr. DeMille has done excellent work in this photoplay, the roles of which are interpreted by highly competent players such as Thomas Meighan, who will be remembered for his delightful portrayal in "The Miracle Man", Gloria Swanson, who was leading woman opposite Mr. Meighan in "Male and Female" has the leading feminine role, while Bebe Daniels is the other woman. The cast throughout is excellent while the costuming is exceptionally rich. The picture proved a delight to the large audiences that witnessed the presentation.

On Tuesday and Wednesday, "The Mystery of the Yellow Room" will be the feature picture. No advance information is available on this picture.

Enid Bennit, whose gowns are always chosen with rare discrimination wears a number of interesting and distinctive costumes in "Silk Hosiery," her latest Paramount picture, which will be featured

In the first part of the picture, she is a veritable Lady of Gold, from the top of her golden curls to the tip of her gloden slippers. There is a sheath of golden tissue, very straight and slim, and a flowing drapery of long, wing-like sleeves of brown chiffon, bordered with gold. The neck is outlined with a narrow band of brown fur, and the whole is a lovely golden dream.

In subsequent scenes she wears a charming pink brocade and lace creation, made on youthful bouffant lines. Pale pink is one of Miss Bennett's favorite colors because "it always seems to mean happines." With this costume she wears an attractive pink hat, an elusive thing of tulle, with bands of silk rosebuds. And last, but not least, is the beruffled blue parasol, which gives just the needed accent to the whole costume.

But the gown upon which the whole story is based, the keynote of this modern tale of Cinderella, is a thing of fairy cobwebs, and moonlight, a shimmery silver froth, impossible to describe. The bodice is sleeveless and the skirt as brief as skirts are these days, but between these more or less narrow confines it manages to be a gown of danty originality and distinctive simplicity. there is a tiny apron effect of silvernet, embroidered with a quaint basket of posies, and edged with a narrow ruffle, which is Miss Bennett's special delight.

"Silk Hosiery" provides a feast for the eye, and will thrill the feminine hearts with its flutter of laces and feathers.

finally taken in by Hugh Hagan, the girl doing housework to earn her board and the little boy stayed with her. The father and the young man cut wood. While Mr. Hagan was absent from home one day, the family picked up and disappeared. The girl was about 16 years old and was thought to have caused the family to leave because she was angry with Mr. Hagan for having reproved her for several indiscreet acts. They were later seen at Conception and in Maryville. They told the same hard luck story and at one time the father was seen with a bottle of whiskey which gave the impression they might have been bootleggers.

Mr. Hagan gave the man an old silver watch and this is the one it is thought he traded for the horse and buggy at Quitman. The young man is said to have had coarse wavy red hair worn pomadour style and wore a soldier's uniform which tallies with the description ot the murdered young man, who was found in the cornfield Tuesday afternoon although the coroner at Clarinda stated he had been dead for four or five days.

FOUR MEN CHARGED WITH STEALING WATERMELONS

Released After Giving $100 Bond for Appearance in September Term of Court.

Sheriff Steve Roach returned from Burlington Junction last night with Oscar Ashbrook, Lester Brittain, Ast. Ginter and Lester Reynolds and is holding them on state charge of petty larceny. The men are said to have stolen watermelons from the patch of J. T. Spangler, a farmer near Burlington Junction, last Thursday night. In his complaint to Prosecuting Attorney Charles McCaffrey, Mr. Spangler said that the main damage was that done to the patch and not the number of melons stolen.

Oscar Ashbrook was in court here on the second day of the January term of circuit court this year on a charge of stealing chickens. He plead ed guilty to the charge and was fined $200 and given a jail sentence of two months, for that offense.

The present case of watermelon stealing will be tried in the September term of circuit court.

All four men gave bonds this morning. The bond in each case was $100, Brittain, Ginder and Reynold's bonds were signed by J. H. Callaway and Ashbrook's bond was signed by John Ashbrook.

OIL LAMPS AND CANDLES IN DEMAND AT SPRINGFIELD

City Will Probably Be Without Electricity for a Period of Several Days.

Springfield, Aug. 13.—With only two days remaining before the threatened disruption of the light, heat, and power service here, citizen today were preparing for an emergency. Great demand is being made for candles and oil lamps to supplant the electric light in case the plant closes Monday at midnight.

An ordinance approved by the city council to extend the utility company franchise for twenty years, must wait several days before the city voters have a chance to adopt it at an election. This means several heatless and lightless days, the manager of the utility company announced today. There is nothing to do but close the power plant.

PIERCE IS MENTIONED FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR

Maryville Banker Has Declined Thus Far to Be Considered—To Back Charles Faust?

The Kansas City Star had the following about candidates for United States Senator:

Representative Charles L. Faust of St. Joseph now appears to be a possible choice in the Republican state organization as candidate for United States senator next year. Faust has not decided yet that he will run.

The stat organization, affiliated with Governor Hyde, has been in search of a candidate for several weeks. The old guard Republicans, usually described as the Babler-Morse faction, are expected to have one or more candidates in the primary race. It is generally believed Walter S. Dickey of Kansas City or E. E. E. McJimsey of Springfield, defeated for the Republican nomination for governor will enter.

Two other Republican congressmen have been mentioned as possible senatorial candidates—Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis and Roscoe Patterson of Springfield. W. C. Pierce of Maryville has been suggested, but he has declined thus far to be considered. Governor Hyde also has declined all overtures to enter the race. Both Pierce and Faust have been outspoken in their opposition to the Babler-Morse faction.

On the Democratic side, it now is definitely known that James A. Reed will seek renomination. The last few months he has made several trips home in an effort to fix his "fences," which were little better than shambles after his fight against the League of Nations last year. In his Missouri speeches Senator Reed now avoids saying anything that will stir up the old partly feud. However, it is not believed that Reed's fight on Wilson can be kept out of the approaching campaign.

The Democratic organization, controlled by the anti-Reed forces, is expected to bring out a candidate against Reed. The bitterness of the rural Democracy against Reed in the last campaign, resulting in his exclusion as a delegate to the Democratic national convention, has subsided to a large extent But party leaders say that it will take more than two years to wipe out entirely the animosity of the Wilson followers, who have charged that Reed's fight turned Missouri to the Republican ranks.

Reed at present has a strong Republican following but it is doubtful that it will continue through a partisan campaign. His Republican strength has caused the frequent prediction that he cannot be defeated if he can "get by" his own party primary.

LEE KNOX FIRST VETERAN TO APPLY FOR APPLICATION

John H. Gann of Burlington Junction Also Asks For Army Compensation

Lee Knox was the first veteran of the world war who applied to G. A Pickens, secretary of Chamber of Commerce for an application blank to send to the"Clean up Squad" of the United States Government which will be in St. Joseph, August 17-18-19 to receive claims which disabled soldiers wish to make against the government.

The parents of John H. Gann of Conception Junction were in Maryville this morning to get an application for him. Gann's health is broken as a result of eating bread which had come in contact with gas in the trenches and from exposure while in service in France.

The Clean Up Squad of the United States Government, composed of three Government men, one member of the American Legion and one representative of the Red Cross will be in St. Joseph August 17, 18 and 19th. If anyone has any complaint to make of injuries on any disabilities received while in service, they can take this up with the Clean Up Squad and their complaints will be adjusted.

Those who wish to secure transportation to St. Joseph can do so by writing Dr. Funsch, Clean Up Squad, Bureau of War Risk Insurance, 6861 Delmar Ave., St. Louis, Missouri. Be sure that "Clean Up Squad" is on the envelope. If it is not on the envelope there will be some delay and possibly the party wishing transportation will not get it. In letter, party making complaint must give full name, rank, organization, adjustment desired or any previous claims. Letter should contain claim or compensation number, if any compensation has been received.

The Chamber of Commerce have these applications and will be glad to help any ex-service men who wish to take up claims against the government for injuries received while in service.
